Handbell Ringers To Concert Series

Chimes! and Merry Peals of Switzerland!" This family came with 240 silver bells to entertain their audiences.

Handbells were first made popular in America by P.T. Barnum, the circus man, who heard a group of men ringers in Lancashire, England, and hired them to join his circus in America. He dressed them as Swiss mountaineers, as being more picturesque than ordinary men. The men objected that they couldn't speak the Swiss language, but Barnum said, "Don't worry. Just speak in your everyday Lancashire dialect and no one will know the difference!"

The Swiss Handbell Ringers wear their Swiss costumes and some are even of Swiss descent but most of all they represent the cultural heritage of Midway. They freely donate their time to perfect their skills and enjoy entertaining audiences.

The group has just finished production on a full length stereo audio cassette tape of Christmas music. Since none of the Ringers had been involved in recording before most of them were nervous at first, but then settled down to play their very best. The cassette tapes will be on sale during their concert series and will sell for $8. Plan to be there one of the Saturday nights and take a little piece of the Bell Ringers home with you.

Midway Residents Can Water an Extra Hour

Midway City residents will be allowed an extra hour of watering on their regular watering day, according to Grant Shelton, Councilman in charge of the water department.

The water tank has been staying up fairly well following some work on the valves and the support of the residents.

Mr. Shelton urges the consumer to continue watering on their odd or even days according to their address and avoid outside watering during the middle of the day.

The extra hour can be taken at either end of their turn, Mr. Shelton said.

(song, cry, screech or whatever you want to call their call) has become more noticeable again.

I have a beautiful potato patch, but when their buds came, they nearly all fell off before blooming. If anyone knows why the buds just dry and fall off, please call me. Will they produce potatoes if they don't bloom?

The city has worked on the water valve systems and felt that some of the problems have been helped but all are far from solved. We can use five hours instead of four as a trial to see if the water holds up.

Elder and Sister Joseph B. Worthlin enjoyed a quiet weekend at their mountain home in the western hills.

Stan and Connie Hill and children, Dustin, Trenton, and Tony went to Afton, WY Friday. Saturday, Dustin and his cousin, Clint Poulsoner, were baptized Saturday by their grandfather, Dave Horseley, in a creek. Dustin Hill was confirmed by his grandfather Horsely. Clint was confirmed by his grandfather Poulsoner. They left Dustin who had been with Stan and Connie Hill and the rest of the family for a week. After visiting old friends, they came home Saturday. Alan, Bonnie and Derek had a good time camping with David and Terri Welch.

Hugo and Dory Lertch visited the Henry Kohler's Monday. They were friends of Henry's over 52 years ago in Switzerland. They now live in Salt Lake City. For a few years, they lived in Midway. They brought friends from California with them.

Sanders Leaves Homestead

Great Inns of The Rockies, Inc., parent company of The Homestead Resort and golf course in Midway, announced recently it has agreed in principle to acquire the holdings of it's founder and president, Jerry Sanders. It concurrently agreed to sell it's New Mexico resort company to the Sanders family. The sales — which are for an undisclosed sum — are expected to be completed by July 31.

Frank Shannon, of Brighton, England, who has been a major shareholder since the company's inception, will assume majority control of the company with the sale. Kevin Shannon, of Park City, will represent the Shannon family on the board as chairman.

Shannon commented, "We are dedicated to continuing our effort to make The Homestead one of the West's finest golf resorts and meeting facilities."

Sanders noted that the only anticipated management changes were the elevation of Britt Mathwich from vice president to president of the parent company. "Mr. Mathwich has been the acting CEO of Great Inns for more than a year," commented Sanders, "so there will be no transition to a new CEO."

in the company's daily operations." Henry Weeks will continue as chief financial officer.

"Carole and I leave The Homestead and Great Inns with great pride in it's staff and their accomplishments over the past four years. We are delighted that the Shannons, who have shared our goals and investment since we began, will be continuing our mutual efforts to make the resort a world-class tourist facility. We simply want to slow down and enjoy our family more than the management of the larger resort."

New Families: Welcome to Wallsburg — the Norman Williams family moved into the former home of Gertrude Ford, and the Glenn Shepherd family are building up east Main Canyon Road. We hope they'll enjoy living in this beautiful community.

Provo River: (Below Deer Creek Reservoir), "Rainbow trout take flies such as Elk Hair caddis, damselflies or Joe's or Dave's hoppers. Pale Morning Duns treat the evening rise fishers. Above Olmstead is artificial flies and lures only while below Olmstead to Utah Lake hook-and line with lures and bait can be used".

Strawberry Reservoir: "Slated for treatment starting Aug. 20. There are plenty of nice rainbows and cutthroat for the taking until it closes Aug. 16. Try from Haws Point, Mud Creek, Charlie Chaplain Point, with baits, trollers or flies. For better fishing waters, fish early morning or evening. The Strawberry Wobbler has finally kicked in for this final fishing. Action is slow, but you'll catch a fish or two a day. Limit is 16 fish per day."

Strawberry Reservoir Limits Lifted

Trout limits have been lifted at Strawberry Reservoir and anglers may use two poles while fishing there until the reservoir is closed for chemical treatment at 12:01 a.m. Aug. 17. Division of Wildlife Resources Director Tim Provan ordered the change July 21, by authority of the Utah Wildlife Board.

According to Provan, the limits were removed to maximize sport fishing harvest of trout before the treatment.
